Personal Statement

I am a motivated and enthusiastic web development professional with experience in HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and WordPress. Currently, I work as a trainer at Learning Lions, where I conduct training sessions in web development, graphic design, and digital office tools while mentoring learners to build their technical and professional skills.

My background includes experience in training, customer service, sales, and business operations, which has strengthened my communication, leadership, and problem-solving abilities. I am passionate about technology and continuous learning, and I enjoy creating digital solutions that make a positive impact. I am seeking opportunities to grow my career, contribute to innovative projects, and further develop my expertise in web development and technology
